

CHRISTMAS TIME

whenever you think about the winter you remember the feeling of christmas, the feeling of watching the snowflakes which are falling down from heaven you remember how you felt three years ago the time which was hard, hard to go through it feels like it has never ended you don't know what you think you don't know how you feel you're just watching the snowflakes and remembering her, remembering everything so you're standing there, feeling empty while everyone is in christmas feeling you go to them faking your smile until the end.
